California's largest industry is agriculture and it is important that we educate the public of its value in our everyday life. We can only do this with your help. Your contribution will accomplish this

We have sponsored leadership training sessions for over 400 women from 6 western states, sponsored speakers for over 7000 students at farm days, and provided a wide array of farm animals for Ag Day in the Mission District of San Francisco. With your help we will continue to sponsor Farm Days and provide speakers throughout California

A CALIFORNIA CATTLEWOMEN HERITAGE FOUNDATION

HISTORY

We are an enthusiastic group of women in the agricultural sector. We are women who nurture our families, our communities, and our fertile earth. We are a voluntary group of women with strong commitment, who, late in 2001, assembled, applied for, and were granted 501(c)3 status.

Our CattleWomen spend so much time in classrooms, hosting trips to farms and ranches, donating supplies for the children and the public in their educational efforts, there is little time and energy left for fund raising.

More time spent on education will bring about understanding the need for open space, continued proper grazing, conservation and water quality management. It is most important for the future of our country to develop leaders who communicate well, those concerns within our own industry, in addition to the general public. It is most important that women of ability serve on Natural Resources Boards, Farm Service Agencies, Community Planning Boards, and be available for speaking engagements when called upon.

As stated in our Articles of Incorporation, our Foundation was created to receive grants and charitable donations for the advancement of leadership education and to assist in the promotion of agriculture through education and science.

The Foundation will, in turn, award the funds received, to grantees according to the merits of their proposal or according to the specific request of the donor.

- GOALS -

To create leadership.

To create awareness within the agricultural sorority so that we can help secure funds for leadership training.

To create, through this leadership, awareness that we are all activists engaged in promoting wise use of our personal and global resources.

To facilitate prompt turnarounds on requests that our foundation receives.

To follow up and evaluate results from designated grants.

To fund leadership sessions yearly.

To fund all educational ventures deemed desirable.

To sponsor annual training sessions for continued wise stewardship within the urban areas as well as within agricultural families.
